

YOUR FAMILY SESSION

In-Home Session

INSIDE

We can start our time together inside, possibly finishing getting ready. Indoors, we will focus on close familial relations, stacking faces and bodies, relying on portraiture to tell the story of your family.

I like to sometimes incorporate mom and dad's clothes, sweaters, shoes and accessories to add a bit of flare to the images.

Unique and playful posing will help focus on the individual personalities in your crew.

< INSIDE LOCATIONS
 Bedrooms, doorways, hallways, stairwell, porch, office chairs, lounge set, kitchen table (set with food/leftover breakfast), tucked in clothing or blankets, peeking out from private spaces.

r2280 www.fotosearch.com

DANCING

I love the idea of dancing and how families can be playful together. We can put on our favourite songs or silly songs and maybe even bust out some instruments and dance around. This should feel playful and free.

This is a great time for costume play!

BOOKS >
 As a family that loves to read, I know the many ways and places I usually end up pretzeling in to a deep reading state. We can focus on cuddles and window bays and cozy spots to snuggle up with books.

OUTDOORS

When we transition our play outside, we can expand our bodies and movement. Hugging trees, laying in the grass, swinging from trees and on tree swings--bodies can stay close--crossing paths and creating visual interest--exploring holding hands, pulling on each other, bending down, scooping up, hanging from fences or bending over backwards.

Aspects of dynamic dimension will help set apart the familial dynamics within your unit--playful, intimate, cozy, safe, quiet, known, wild.

This is another time that I like to use fruit or flowers and other found "props" around the house, including: mom and dad hats, water buckets, oversized tees or sweaters, and bare feet. Pillow fight? Should we cut up a pillow and let the feathers fly, or turn on the watering hose?

We will capture mostly each other at play and in candid moments--vingetting siblings, single parent-child relationships, as well as parents together while the kids entertain themselves.

SWINGING
Spend a few minutes playing on the tree swing

OUTDOOR STYLING

We expect wind to blow, hands to get dirty, and hair to fly. Sometimes more casual hairdos or playsuits/play attire can add to the simplicity of the outdoors and allow the relationships and story to unfold more authentically. Don't be afraid to also contrast the simplicity of the outdoors with a dress or attire that would show movement or enhance your play.

BIKES
Pull out the bikes, load multiple people on them, ride around driveway and

